Vote Right Bill Seen Condemned

Senate Refuses Talkathon Curb Second Time

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate today virtually condemned the administration's voting rights bill for this session by refusing for a second time to curb a southern talkathon against the legislation.

The vote was 52 to 42 against gagging the southerners, 21 votes short of the required two-thirds. The latest test came on a second cloture move by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., after an hour of windup arguments by both sides in the controversy. Mansfield's first cloture try was badly beaten last week.

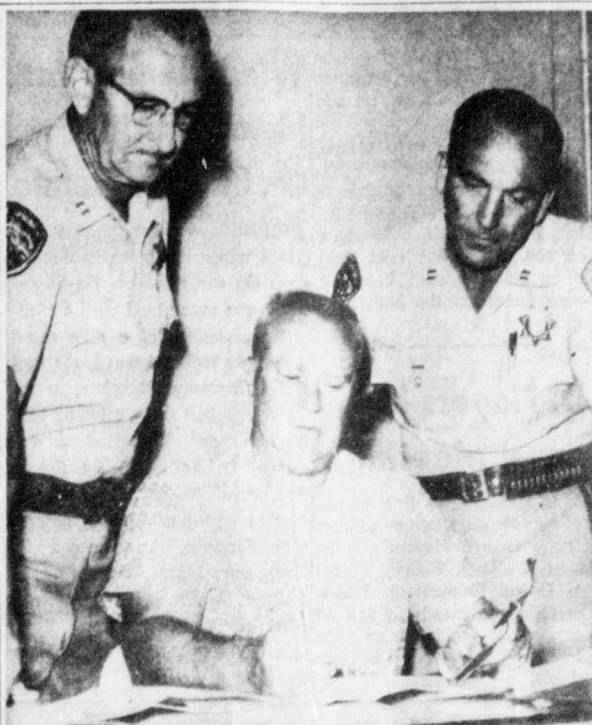

Even before today's vote, the Democratic leader said the second cloture move would have to get "awfully close" to a two-thirds majority to keep the bill alive. Otherwise, he said, he would let the Senate move on to other business.

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, told the Senate the bill was not just a literacy test bill. He said it went far beyond that issue by affecting the states' rights to "set educational requirements."

His criticism was supported by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., who contended that present laws are broad enough. Stennis said the bill's sponsors have "signally failed" to assure the constitutionality of their proposal.

He cited recent newspaper editorials and former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's statement on the subject to support his position.

Mansfield conceded that the changes were slim, but he said he thought the move had a better chance today than last week when it was badly beaten.

TRAFFIC PROBLEMS are a major item with Palm Springs' top police officers, shown here studying an engineering profile of traffic control plans. They are Chief August Kettmann, seated; Capt. Orest Johnson, left, executive officer of the department, and Capt. Dale Thompson, head of the patrol division. The first of a series of feature stories on police operations may be found on Page 6. 1,000 Marines Set to Land as Reinforcements

By United Press International

American soldiers in Thailand were reported moving toward the Laotian border today, involving the United States more deeply in the battle to stop communism from swamping the rest of Southeast Asia.

Washington reports said a battle unit of 1,000 men of the 25th Army Division's 27th Infantry was ordered to the Mekong River town of Udong after pro-Communist rebels chased the remnants of the royal Laotian army out of northwestern Laos into Thailand during the weekend.

High U.S. officials said 1,000 American Marines aboard a 7th Fleet task force were ready to land as reinforcements when the Thai government gave formal approval. It was expected momentarily.

Elements of the 7th Fleet were maneuvering into a semi-circle around the Indochina Peninsula. U.S. airborne troops in Okinawa and Hawaii and on the U.S. West Coast were on alert.

Thailand ordered its own troops to reinforce the border area and Premier Sarit Thanarat called on the people to keep calm and trust in the government.

Communist propaganda outlets set up a strident outcry against the American maneuvers. Radio Moscow said Laos is "being exposed to the danger of direct U.S. military intervention."

Radio Peiping carried an interview with Laotian rebel Gen. Kong Le in which he charged that the United States actually provoked the rebel attacks in northern Laos and that the royal Laotian army broke the cease-fire first.

Nevertheless, both the royal Laotian government in Vientiane and the rebel leadership appeared ready to talk peace terms.

Asks New Talks

The government of Prince Boun Oum, its 5,000-man army shattered in northwest Laos and its treasury shrinking by suspension of American economic aid, cabled neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma in Paris with offers to resume peace talks.

Informed sources in Vientiane said Boun Oum offered to let Souvanna's faction control the strategic police and defense ministries in a coalition government if he could give some assurance they would not fall into the hands of the Communists. This issue broke up past negotiations.

French government sources in Paris said Souvanna was ready to talk and offered to meet Boun Oum's negotiators in Laos on the Plain of Jars. The Peiping Radio broadcast indicated that Pathet Lao "Red" Prince Souphanouvong also favored the talks.

But Boun Oum and his strongman, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, flew to Formosa today for a three-day visit, apparently without setting a date for the session. Nationalist sources in Taipei indicated the government might give Laos some rice and cement, but there was little chance of military help without American approval.

Buildup of U.S. Force Continues

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States continued its "precautionary" buildup to protect Laos today despite reports that Communist military activity in the country had ground to a halt.

U.S. military forces in Thailand were reported moving toward the border with Laos as part of President Kennedy's decision to draw a firm line against further Communist advances in Southeast Asia. U.S. officials said the question of whether the troops actually cross Mekong River and enter Laos depends on whether the Communist Pathet Lao rebels continue their advance, or enter diplomatic negotiations for some kind of a settlement.

Other sources said, however, that the United States had no intention "as of now" of moving combat troops into Laos. But these sources said that if the Communists sought to cross into Thailand, it could be assumed U.S. forces would act to throw them back. There was some confusion here, possibly part of a deliberate "keep 'em guessing" policy, as to the precise line at which this country would join the fighting. As a practical matter, it appeared to be the Mekong River.

Asked whether Laos had been written off militarily, these sources said no. They said U.S. military advisers still were working with Laotian troops while Washington tries through diplomacy to get the warring Laotian factions together in a neutral government. For the moment, at least, officials were reported somewhat encouraged by the lack of any new Communist moves in Laos. There has been a halt in Pathet Lao military activity over the last two days.

NEWS in BRIEF

A sprinkle of rain settled the dust in the southwest portion of Palm Springs this morning and brought a colorful dividend — a rainbow that glistened against the hills.

The rain, which pattered briskly on the city for approximately five minutes at 7 a.m., was followed by one of the most brilliant rainbows of the season, observers said. Cooling winds, which brought rains to the pass area over the weekend, dumped light snow on the lower hills of Morongo Valley late Sunday. The Desert Sun learned today. New snowfall was also reported on the high slopes of Mt. San Jacinto and Mt. San Geronimo.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today that President Kennedy's foreign policy is aimed at winning a decision by Russia to live at peace with the world — "the most revolutionary force waiting for man at this time."

REDLANDS (UPI) — Lockheed Propulsion Co. announced Saturday it had successfully fired "the world's largest solid rocket motor" and it developed a thrust of 400,000 pounds during the 130-second burning time.

The firing was so powerful it touched off a minor brush fire at the company's Potrero test facility 20 miles southeast of here. The fire was quickly extinguished.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Ex-gambler Mickey Cohen, 48, was taken to Alcatraz Prison today to begin serving a 15-year sentence for income tax evasion—his second prison sentence on the charge within 10 years.

The onetime czar of West Coast gambling was escorted to the penitentiary in San Francisco Bay.

CONFETTI, BALLOON

Astronaut Carpenter Will Take 'Pretties'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—Astronaut Scott Carpenter, 37, will take a supply of confetti, a beach ball-sized balloon and a flash of green water into space this month to perform new experiments for American scientists.

He also will temporarily shut down his control system, let his capsule drift and then regain control, and perform several turns around the capsule to help refine techniques for future space flights.

The Navy lieutenant commander relaxed this weekend while technicians repaired the control system in his spacecraft. He is due to be rocketed into orbit next Saturday morning if there are no further technical snags or weather problems.

During the weekend, the civilian space agency released flight plans for Carpenter's mission. The list of new experiments showed it would be more than a carbon copy of astronaut John Glenn's adventure into orbit last Feb. 20.

Among other things, America's next spaceman will fling brightly colored confetti into the heavens to see if space plays tricks on the human eye and to gather clues on the luminous "firefly" particles which Glenn saw in space.

The aluminum beach ball—colored orange, white, silver, yellow and phosphorescent blue-green—will be towed along behind his spacecraft to let Carpenter report on which colors show up best in space and to observe the drag effect of space on the balloon.

He will watch the water in the flask to see how it behaves to help engineers learn how to construct fuel tanks for future spacecraft.

These are only a few of the new tasks programmed for the lanky naval officer. Some were to have been undertaken by Glenn, who had to pass them up because of control problems in his capsule.

$10 Million Deal Before City Tonight

Plans for the $10 million development of the prime mid-town Desert Inn property will be reviewed for the Palm Springs City Council at 7:30 p.m. today by architect Charles Luckman.

The plans call for approximately 300,000 square feet of development on 100,000 square feet of land area, developer George Alexander told the council two weeks ago. Approximately half the site will be devoted to parking areas and walkways, with extensive landscaping for the remainder of the site.

The proposed high-rise hotel—not permitted under current city ordinance — is planned for the toe of the foothills, Alexander had told the council. He stressed that the plan would not obstruct view or sunlight for any surrounding properties.

Included in the proposal is dedication of a right of way for extension of Belardo Road through the property, on land valued at approximately $400,000. The road extension has been planned as a major step toward solution of the city's north-south traffic flow problem.

Rotary Club's Installation Set Tonight

Mayor Frank Bogert will be master of ceremonies for a program Wednesday night at Canyon Country Club marking installation of officers for the Palm Springs Rotary Club, it was announced today.

Ceremonies seating City Attorney Jerry Bunker as president for the coming year will be conducted by C. Ronald Ellis, district governor and a member of the local club.

Taking office with Bunker will be the Rev. Fred Barnhill, vice president and program chairman, along with Clarence Brechlin, secretary - treasurer, and the new board of directors.

A highlight of the evening will be a demolition ceremony for Dr. Dwight Twist, outgoing president, which will be conducted under the direction of Brechlin.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A prank involving a 50-pound statue of "Smokey the Bear" has resulted in the death of a 21-year-old Marine corporal.

Salton Sea Fisherman Said Dead

INDIO — A capsized skiff that apparently carried Ray Kaiser, 61-year-old Mecca fisherman to his death late Friday, was spotted by airborne sheriff's deputies at noon Saturday.

Sheriff's Lt. Harley Margrave told The Desert Sun the skiff was sighted by one of three search planes five miles northwest of Bombay Beach. The craft was towed ashore for inspection approximately 18 miles east of the north Shore Beach on Highway 111.

The sighting was approximately 13 miles from where the little craft was seen at 7:30 p.m. Friday near the Whitewater storm drain inlet. Two other small craft had made it safely to shore as the heavy winds whipped Salton Sea into white caps Friday Lt. Margrave said.

Rescue units pushed into the sea late Friday in a rough-water rescue craft, but were forced to shore by high winds and rough water. Sheriff's deputies searched the Salton Sea shoreline in a vain search for Kaiser's body throughout Saturday and Sunday.

Assassination of Sukarno Failure

SINGAPORE (UPI)—A gunman believed to be a Moslem fanatic opened fire on Indonesian President Sukarno at a prayer meeting in Jakarta today, but radio reports said Sukarno escaped unharm.

Five other persons, including National Police Chief Mohammed Noor, two legislative officials and two of Sukarno's police bodyguards, were reported wounded.

Radio Jakarta said the assailant was "arrested immediately." An investigation was reported under way.

Obscure wording in the first report of the shooting, broadcast by Information Minister Mohamed Yamin, made it appear the 60-year-old Sukarno had been killed. Yamin's broadcast spoke of the president as "tertinggal," a word literally meaning "left" which is used in Indonesia as a polite synonym for "died" or "passed away."

A later broadcast by Lt. Col. Sabur of the presidential staff said, however, that "with God's protection the president was not harmed."

U.S. Fires 11th Nuclear Blast In Test Series

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States today set off its 11th nuclear explosion in the current Pacific test series, dropping an intermediate yield device from an airplane.

The detonation took place at about 8:30 a.m. PDT in the vicinity of Christmas Island, the Atomic Energy Commission announced. Intermediate yield usually means an explosive power of about 100,000 tons of TNT.

Police said Parsons told them the two Marines took the statue Friday night, returned with it to Washington, and hid it at the Marine barracks where they were stationed. On Saturday night, they smuggled it out of the installation and took it to the veterans' home.

There they tied it to a flagpole and pulled it to the top of the pole. They gave the rope a final tug before tying it to a nearby cannon. The extra tug was too much for the pole. It snapped and came down with the statue.

Police said Parsons was knocked down but was not hurt. A Marine spokesman said he was being held under "administrative restriction" while the incident was being investigated.

Philippines President Miffed, Will Not Come

MANILA (UPI) — President Diosdado Macapagal, irritated at U.S. congressional rejection of the Philippines $73 million war damage claims, announced today he has postponed indefinitely his scheduled state visit to the United States.

The degree of the government's displeasure with Washington was reflected in an announcement Sunday that Macapagal had decided to change this country's Independence Day from July 4 to June 12.

The Manila Chronicle, quoting informed sources, said the switch was "the start of a series of readjustments in Philippine-American relations."

The United States granted the Philippines independence on July 4, 1946. The new date relates to the fact that on June 12, 1898, the Philippines proclaimed its independence from Spain and established the first Philippine republic headed by Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo.

1,000 Palms Assured of New School

By BEATRICE EAVES

THOUSAND PALMS — The little Community Church at Thousand Palms was filled to capacity when people of the village met with members of the Palm Springs Unified School District board to discuss the probabilities of having an elementary school here.

Dr. John Miles, assistant superintendent of Palm City Schools and Bert Lamb, president of the Palm Springs Unified School District, were encouraging on the proposal.

Excerpts from the five-year policy plan of 1959 were read and the requirements for establishing a school discussed.

Residents were given assurance that the doors of a new school would be open not later than September of 1963 on the 17 acres of land in Thousand Palms already paid for and set aside for that purpose.

Plans are that at first there will be two grades in each room and not less than 20 pupils in the room for each teacher. As the population increases the school will be enlarged to take care of the students. Thousand Palms is a fast growing community, and with a school within its boundaries will grow even faster.

Estes Probe Pushing On

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Senate subcommittee today pushed ahead with its investigation into the dealings of Billie Sol Estes, apparently with help from some unidentified government employees.

Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S. D., said Sunday he knew of three employees of the labor and agriculture departments that had secretly volunteered information to the subcommittee on the Estes case.

Mundt, top GOP member of the subcommittee, said some of the workers may be giving the tips because they envy fellow workers "who drive Cadillacs while they drive Chevrolets."

But he said others appeared motivated by a desire for clean government, volunteering information about the business affairs of the Texas farm magnate. Estes is under indictment for fraud in Texas and has been fined more than half a million dollars by the Agriculture Department for alleged violations of cotton planting regulations.

Mundt said he personally had received tips from two government workers. He said subcommittee chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., had received at least one.

Mundt said he assumed other subcommittee members also had been given leads. He said the subcommittee did not invite the leads but would try to prevent the tipsters from any reprisals.

Five of Six Recovered Bodies Shark-Chewed

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (UPI)—A fishing expedition ended in tragedy Sunday when the bodies of six men—five of them mutilated by sharks—were recovered and three other men were presumed drowned.

Explosion of Atlas Test On Ground

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—An Atlas missile exploded in its ground test stand in mountains northeast of here Sunday, spewing up a huge black cloud of smoke.

Both the $2.5 million Atlas and its 90-foot test stand were destroyed. No one was reported injured in the explosion which rocked the Sycamore Canyon test site 15 miles from the downtown section here.

A number of nearby fuel storage tanks also were destroyed.

The explosion noise rumbled through a large part of the city. Homeowners 10 miles away said they saw flames and a black mushroom cloud that boiled up several hundred feet into the air.

The Atlas did not leave its ground test stand. The explosion occurred while the missile was being test fired. A preliminary report indicated fuel tanks in the missile might have exploded.

Officials at General Dynamics-Astronautics, builders of the Atlas, were investigating the explosion and said the cause probably would be determined Tuesday or Wednesday.

Burglars Wired For Sound Now Sought by P.D.

Burglars wired for sound are sought by Palm Springs police today, following three Saturday reports.

Arnold Kunote, 611 Lesire Way, told police that someone who apparently entered his home within the past two weeks took a portable stereo set and whiskey. Missing is a $200, white-cased stereo with two speakers and two or three bottles of bourbon.

Mrs. Fred Stein, 1933 Renee Circle, reported thefts from two houses under construction. Three inter-comm speakers, valued at $19 each, were taken from a house at 1178 E. Anza, police learned. Three speakers, a doorbell unit valued at $25, and an AM-FM Stereo worth $170 were taken from a house under construction at 1000 La Verne Way, officers were told.

Police Have a $64.50 Question

Where did it go is the $64.50 question at the men's shop in the Riviera Hotel, Palm Springs police said today.

Curt Lederer, shop manager, told police that an alpaca sweater valued at $33.50, two wool shirts totaling $23, and four bottles of cologne worth $8 were taken from a locked display case.

The Coast Guard said nine men were aboard the 25-foot cabin cruiser Happy Jack when it left Los Angeles Harbor Friday on its first sea trip under command of its new owner, Chester McMain of Norwalk, Calif.

The six bodies were discovered Sunday by another fishing boat. A school of sharks was still swarming around the bodies as they bobbed in the cold offshore waters supported by life preservers.

Coast Guard rescue units combed the area late into the night but failed to turn up a trace of the three men still missing.

Orange County Deputy Coroner Eugene Miller said five of the bodies recovered "were chewed by sharks . . . in many cases all the way down to the bone."

"They possibly were eaten alive," Miller said.

The six known dead were identified as McMain; Charles W. Chudy, 52, of Westminster, Calif.; Robert Herman Schmidt of Stillwater, Okla.; Harvey L. Johnston, 30, of Hollywood; John Treadway, 39, of Los Angeles; and William F. Huffman, 29, also Los Angeles.

Still missing were Robert Cain, 28, Bell Gardens, Calif.; E. R. Huffman, William Huffman's brother; and Robert Gibson Jr., 21, husband of McMain's daughter.

The coroner's office said there were no indications of burns or gasoline fumes on the bodies recovered.

Wind Blamed for Minor Injuries On Indian Avenue

GARNET — Five persons received minor injury early Sunday when the car in which they were riding was overturned with a trailer three-quarters of a mile south of here on Indian Avenue, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Investigating CHP officers said the car apparently rolled when a camper trailer towed by Robert Roy, 36, of Whittier, was whipped over by strong winds. Roy and his wife Margaret, 32, escaped injury, and Frank Kershaw, 75, Whittier, was released after treatment at Desert Hospital. Roy's sons, Robert, 12, and Michael six, were also treated and released.

ON HI-DESERT BASE

1,500 at Open House

TWENTYNINE PALMS — Play- ing host to approximately 1,500 spectators, Twentynine Palms Marine Base conducted a Light Anti-aircraft Missile and Field Artillery firing demonstration Saturday.

The actual demonstration had to be delayed about 35 minutes later than scheduled due to the great influx of visitors to the firing area.

A weapons parade lead the sequence of events as "B" Battery 1st LAAMS prepared the first "bird" for launching. The count down was given and the first missile roared off the launcher 1000 yards to the left of the spectators view. This shot proved to be close enough to be considered a "kill" had it been a combat firing. The second missile hit the drone directly and sent it down in a puff of smoke.

Next on the agenda was an artillery demonstration with self-propelled 155mm and 8-inch Howitzers and conventional 155mm Howitzers doing the firing. The artillery units displayed both direct fire and high-angle fire on targets from 2,000 to 6,000 yards down range.

One of the highlights of this demonstration was the radio communication from the forward observer to the firing battery being sent over the loud-speaker for the visitors to hear how a target was sighted and destroyed, and how the "big guns" were positioned for the firing.

Following the firing exercise the visitors were invited to the main area of the Base for static displays of the equipment they had just seen fired and for a parade at which time the presentation of the Navy - Marine Corps Medal would take place.

Visiting guests viewed a regimental parade held on the upper parade field of the Marine Corps Base at 12 noon. Leading off the parade was the Base Band which played selections for the visitors and commanding general, Brig. Gen. Lewis J. Fields, who viewed the festivities.

Festival of Fine Arts Thursday

One of the highlights of the Spring Festival of Fine Arts to be held in the Palm Springs High School auditorium, Thursday evening, will be the appearance of "We Four Plus One," the Palm Springs High School Quintette.

Composed of distaff soloist, Carol Paul, and the Quartette, Bob Driskell, David Kennedy, Tommy Pickell and Gary Beebe, this talented singing group has scored first wins in a series of programs this school season.

As a result of the high acclaim accorded them in the Riverside "Starcapades," they were invited to appear on "The Johnny Grant Talent Search," television show on Channel 11 in Los Angeles. Here, reports vocal music director Alex Hammond, "they won by an overwhelming majority."

The public is invited to the Festival at the High School on Thursday evening. An exhibition of art work by High School students from classes taught by Miss Joyce Decker and Miss Bernice Rosenberg, will be on display in the foyer of the auditorium.

Instrumental music director, Gustave Patzner will present the Palm Springs High School Band (in their new uniforms). The orchestra under his direction and the choral groups, directed by Alex Hammond, will complete the musical program.

Prior to the Festival of Music the newly elected PTA officers for 1963-64 will be installed.

Palm Springs Coffee Hour Set for Cook

Mrs. Joe Leonard will act as hostess for a coffee hour for William W. (Bill) Cook, supervisory candidate, at 10 a.m. Wednesday in her home at 2210 McManus Drive, Palm Springs.

Mrs. Earl Coffman, chairman of the Bill Cook for Supervisor committee in Palm Springs, announced that anyone interested in hearing the candidate speak or in asking questions of him, is invited. No invitations or reservations are necessary, she said.

"Bill is expected to follow his usual procedure of spending about ten minutes discussing his own background and what he regards as important matters of the district, and then to answer questions," Mrs. Coffman said.

The Wednesday morning Coffee Hour will be the first in a series of informal meetings in Palm Springs with the candidate between now and June 5, according to Mrs. Coffman.

"We feel this is the most effective way of letting several people meet Bill Cook and talk with him long enough to really find out something about him and his views on County government."

Following the morning meeting, Cook is expected to spend a few hours in downtown Palm Springs meeting local men and women.

Castro Says Improvement In 20 Years

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro told the people of shortage-plagued Cuba Sunday that things will be better in 10 or 20 years.

In a 58-minute Mother's Day speech to about 60,000 students gathered at an airbase outside Havana, Castro said that the duty of Cuban students now is to "study, study and study."

Castro spoke hoarsely, and at times his voice was very low.

A few hours before he spoke, the National Supply Board had announced that current rations of milk, soap and toothpaste would continue in force during May.

Members of the Executive Board of the CTC Union Federation went to a sugar plantation near here Sunday to help get in the crop, dramatizing government efforts to make up a lag of nearly a million tons in this year's sugar production.

The CTC executives said 300 women would leave for the fields Tuesday to help bring in the cane.

Sugar union leader Ursinio Rojas said the government hopes to have 1,000 cane-picking machines ready in time to help harvest the 1963 sugar crop.

Castro repeated his familiar assurance that his regime will survive despite the power of its enemies.

"No matter how small our country is, Yankee imperialism will not be able to destroy its revolution, its decision, its future, because imperialism... doesn't have the courage... to try to destroy the revolution," he said.

TV in Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — CBS-TV, which recently presented a controversial drama about abortion on "The Defenders," Thursday night examined the equally explosive birth control issue.
But whereas "The Defenders" was an openly one-sided, sugar-coated plea for relaxation of abortion laws, Thursday night's "CBS Reports" aimed at a much more balanced, compassionate approach for all sides.
It did not hedge in its frank presentation of the difference between Catholic and non-Catholic advocates. And it circled in on two focal points of the controversy:
Chicago, where some persons charge there is a ban on birth control services in public hospitals and clinics; and New Haven, Conn., where a clinic of the Planned Parenthood Federation, opened to test the constitutionality of the state law against birth control, was closed.
Most, if not all, of the women interviewed concerning Chicago's Cook County Hospital, said they got no birth control information there. Said one: "They give you the runaround."
The Rev. Edgar Chandler, of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago, contended a "de facto" ban exists. But Dr. Karl A. Meyer, medical director of Cook County Hospital, said it does not, adding, however, that the dissemination of such information would occupy much of the staff's time.
Samuel L. Andelman, Chicago health commissioner, maintained there was no ban in board of health clinics. But he added that since his organization was tax-supported, he did not feel it had the right to advocate birth control.
One Catholic, however — Dr. John Rock, of the Harvard Medical School and a pioneer of oral contraception — said religious opposition to certain forms of birth control was an "imagined threat." But other, more official Catholic spokesmen appeared to disagree.
Both sides of the Connecticut issue also were presented. And old-time birth control advocate Margaret Sanger had her say too.
One of the pointed disputes of the evening involved how both pro and anti-birth control advocates felt the use of taxed funds at public hospitals and clinics aided their arguments. Each side feels that since it is contributing taxes, it shouldn't play second fiddle.
It was difficult not to compare the methods of "The Defenders" and "CBS Reports." The makers of "The Defenders" loaded their argument in a practical political approach to sell their views on a mass level.
"CBS Reports," on the other hand, was not out to sell a viewpoint blatantly. CBS can only be commended heartily for standing by this magnificent show despite the fact that it cannot be doing too well in the ratings against "The Untouchables" and "Sing Along With Mitch."
Shows like "CBS Reports" become more important as television entertainment becomes more cowardly and cold-bloodedly commercial. Satirists like Bob Newhart and Steve Allen have been dropped by networks. And just the other day, a spokesman for a new series, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" — which took political potshots in the Jimmy Stewart comedy movie version — said that on television it will be totally non-committal.
Why? What in the world are we afraid of?

THE AIR FORCE, of course, isn't going to let any of the other services outdo it in showing off its might to President Kennedy. Recently, at the Air Proving Ground Center, Eglin Air Force Base, in Florida, a gang of needle-nosed F-105D's put on a power show that included blasting a simulated enemy communications post—they literally "raised the roof"—and knocking out tanks on strafing runs. Republic-built plane flies at super-sonic and subsonic speeds and can carry 4,000 weapon combinations—both nuclear and conventional, including the speedy Bullpup and Sidewinder missiles.

National Police Week Is Now Under Way

Spa Force, Station Are True Models

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following is the first in a series of articles describing the organization and activities of the Palm Springs Police Department and is presented to focus attention on National Police Week, May 13 to 19, so designated by President John F. Kennedy.

By JOHN LAW

An old adage says that a community gets the kind of law enforcement it deserves.

If this is true, the level of police service rendered in Palm Springs is a compliment to councilmanic and administrative leadership over the years.

Since incorporation in 1938 — when the city grew out of an informal gambling atmosphere — tightening of enforcement policies and constant training has developed what is considered to be an outstanding police department.

Rigid screening of recruits, constant in-service training, regular FBI and state department of education courses all have their effect on the level of services performed. Chief Gus Kettmann believes implicitly that the police role is the protection of life and property at the same time stressing courtesy and efficiency.

Model Buildings

In an ultra-modern and unique facility dedicated July 1959 the building is considered a model for small city departments. Architect John Porter Clarke planned the building for an ultimate population of 100,000.

While the detailed building plan is being studied by many other cities, a department manual, developed under the direction of Chief Kettmann, is also being copied by police administration in many cities, including, some in other states.

A tiny replica of the Los Angeles Police Department, adhering to the same high standards, the Palm Springs Police Department counts 40 sworn officers, 13 clerks, communication officers, dispatchers and receptionists who are uniformed and work around the clock. In addition, one technician is assigned to the maintenance of the city's 650 parking meters and two serve in the humane department and operate the animal shelter.

Volunteers

Volunteer agencies, composed of permanent, public spirited citizens are the Mounted Police led by Captain Moe Purnell, a charter member since the organization's inception in 1948, and the Police Reserve led by Captain Lester Hurst. The Mounted Police are well-equipped and engage in search activities on the desert and nearby mountains. The Reserves, organized in 1947, ride in patrol cars, direct traffic and assist with special events.

These two organizations numbering approximately 70 permanent residents — 50 in the Mounted Police and 20 in the reserve — contribute thousands of hours of service to the community each year and provide a supplemental manpower resource the value of which cannot be estimated in dollars. They are most in evidence handling the annual parades, the January rodeo, New Years, Easter Week, the major league baseball games and the July 4 fireworks. Like the regulars they have constant in-service training and are ready for any emergency.

Tours Daily

Best evidence of the solidity and stability of the Mounted Police is the fact that 35 charter members are still active and attend the training meetings twice a month. Thursday more than half will trail their quarter horses, at their own expenses, to Las Vegas to represent Palm Springs in the "Hellorado Days" parade.

These organizations share the police facility with the regulars where 14,000 feet of space provide every technical aid and detection device known to modern law enforcement. Guided tours are being held daily during "Police Week" from 1 to 5 p.m.

Court Holds Restriction Invalid

A 37-year-old deed restriction on lots in the Pevler tract in Palm Springs has been held invalid because of developmental changes, in decision of the Fourth Appellate District Court, Los Angeles.

The unanimous decision upheld a ruling by Riverside County Superior Court Judge Merrill Brown, who ruled for land owner Louis L. Bard, Beverly Hills. The tract, bounded on the north by Tachevah Drive, on the east by Avenida de Los Palos Verdes, and on the West by Indian Avenue, is no longer in a single family residence area, Bard contended.

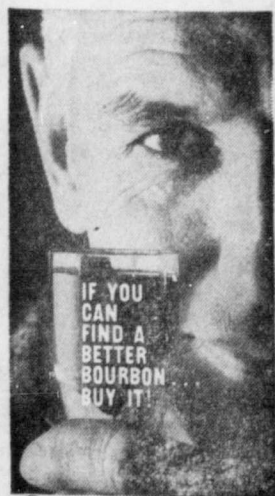

The deed restrictions, first placed in 1923 and revised by property owner agreement in 1932, prohibited any use for the land except single family residence. The court held that the basic use of the surrounding land has changed to commercial or multiple dwelling in the intervening years, and that city zoning — though not binding — is admissible as indication of the changed land use.

Tau Sigmas Write 'Finis' To Busy Year

It was a cool and relaxing evening as members of Tau Sigma Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, wrote "finis" to an active year with a poolside party at the Camino Real home of Dr. and Mrs. George Milkie.

Dips and drinks were served on the torch lit patio and those brave members and husbands enjoying a dip in the pool came face to face with a large turtle carrying a flaming torch on his back.

A great deal of reminiscing, man talk and even a bit of twisting was topped off with a late evening snack of apple strudel and coffee.

Recuperating officers and their spouses were: Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wahlberg (she is outgoing president); the J. Allen Slones, Fred Weigels, Leighton Nugents, Oran Deals and their guests, pledgees Marthe Zipfel and Angie Martins with her husband Mario.

Mrs. Wahlberg will install the new officers at the Security bank community room on Monday, May 14.

Mrs. Bement Heads D.H.S. Auxiliary

Mrs. George Bement was installed as president of the American Legion Auxiliary Post 763 at a joint installation held by the post and auxiliary at the Desert Hot Springs' Eighth Street Community Center.

Other officers installed were: Mrs. Dewey Carson, 1st vice president; Mrs. Chester B. Dodd, 2nd vice president; Mrs. John Haidet, treasurer; Mrs. Elsie Martin, chaplain; Mrs. Evelyn Jensen, historian; Mrs. Randy Lundby, sergeant-at-arms; Mrs. Walter O. Pittenger, marshal; and Mrs. Sylvia Hempstead, May Schlan and Harry Chester, executive committee members.

Assisting in the installation were members of the Eight and Forty drill team, Mmes. Ruth Lambertson, Anna B. Miller, Florence Walker, Nellie Caldwell, Jane Goff, Lina Rhode, Helen Allen, Mary Cowan and Ruth Sobieski.

Following the installation Mrs. George Bement, Mrs. Anna B. Miller and Mrs. Ruth Lambertson were named as delegates to the Legion's state convention which is to be held at Fresno, June 26-30. Mrs. Joseph Lowenthal, Mrs. Eva Jensen and Mrs. May Schlan were named as alternates.

Prior to adjournment, members served refreshments of sandwiches, salads, hot dogs and assorted sweets.

P.S. Business Women Hold Installation

Carnations and vari-colored shasta daisies were combined in the floral centerpiece, flanked with candles, that centered the table when Palm Springs Business Women's Club held its installation dinner in the patio at Sherm's Steak House. Small basket bouquets of carnations marked each place.

Munya Smoot, retiring president, presented gifts of appreciation to the members of her board, and, for entertainment, Milly Allen acted as fortune teller. The new president is Louise Purnell.

Members of the incoming and outgoing boards will be entertained Monday evening, May 14, at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Bernice Baboian, with all who wish to bring their swim suits for a dip in the pool. Reservations should be made by calling the hostess.

Ottar Roens Entertain At Lavish Buffet Party

The Ottar J. Roens entertained with a lavish buffet party at their home in Palm Desert. Beautiful multi-colored roses were everywhere, matching the hand-painted china. There was even roses in the bird bath!

A bar on the patio and buffet inside kept the guests refreshed and in good form for all the singing, dancing and interesting fun games that took place (especially the one with the king-size dice).

With Phylla Bedford at the piano, Gracie McCann on the harp and Thirza Schenk leading the songs (some with improvised verses) the music was really jumping.

Those attending this not-to-be-forgotten party were the Mmes. and Messrs. Glenn Gurley, Al Miriman, Carl Henderson, Henry La Ford, John Copass, Don McNeilly, Guy Sensiba, Ralph Caplinger, Bill Alread, Douglas Cox, R. T. Spanagel, Fletcher Deik, Jerry Tondou, Don Callhan, and Owen Phillips.

Also attending were Bunny Ward, Edith Eddy Ward, Helen Furer, Mildred Miell, Anita Brennan, Olive Dyna, Evelyn Schland, A. L. Two Girls Will Attend Girls State

Mrs. Ruth Allen, local Girls' State chairman for the American Legion Auxiliary announced that Margo Morrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Morrison of Palm Springs has been selected to attend the 19th California Girls State session on the Davis Campus of University of California, June 18-26.

Mrs. Allen states that this is an annual training project for the some 520 girls who will be present in practical Americanism and Citizenship training.

Charlotte Larrieu, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Larrieu of Cathedral City, will attend the session as an alternate. The girls are co-sponsored by the Owen Coffman Unit 519 Palm Springs and the Desert Hot Springs Unit 763, American Legion Auxiliary.

The enthusiastic support of this program in local high schools has resulted in a big increase in attendance in the sessions. The local girls will attend a Girls' State tea in Arlington Hall Sunday, May 13, at 2 p.m., to meet some of the other Southern California delegates to the session.

Virginia Ann Uebbing Wed To John Palmer Powell

The wedding of Virginia Ann Uebbing, daughter of the William John Uebbing of La Canada, to John Palmer Powell, son of the Palmer A. Powells of this area, was solemnized by Father Paul Early at St. Bedes in La Canada. The 11 o'clock Nuptial Mass was followed by a wedding luncheon at the Robert Hills Inn, with only the immediate family present.

Virginia, known to her many friends on the desert as Bonnie, graduated from Pasadena City College. John, a graduate of USC, and a Sigma Chi, is associated in business with his father, Palmer Powell.

The church was a bower of white flowers and the bride was beautiful in a short white bouffant lace dress. Her veil was secured to a tiny seed pearl covered pill box.

She carried white orchids and wore a strand of heirloom pearls. Her sister Kay was gownned in powder blue with pale pink shoes and carried a bouquet of pale pink flowers. Best man was John L. Moore, long time friend, schoolmate and fraternity brother of the benedict.

Mrs. Uebbing was charming in turquoise and Mrs. Powell lovely in an Irene gown of lime colored Italian silk.

The young couple motored up the coast to San Francisco, stopping at Carmel and other interesting points en route to Lake Tahoe. They will make their home in Palm Desert.

Besides the parents, wedding guests included the Walter (Terry) G. Waters (Jeanette is John's sister) and their two children, Diane and John; Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Hampton and their two sons, Robert and Gregory and Mrs. John L. Moore who flew down with her husband (best man) from Tiburon (the island across from San Francisco).

Circle Hostesses Luncheon

Centerpieces of roses decorated the luncheon tables and baskets of white gladioli and purple iris decorated the speakers' platform when the Rachel Circle of the Palm Springs Community Church hosted a salad-dessert luncheon at the church.

Following luncheon Mrs. Myron Person, program chairman, introduced the speaker, Mrs. Mark Andrews, wife of the minister of Redlands Presbyterian Church, who spoke on "Missionary World Service."

The Missionary theme program was presided over by Mrs. Sterling Keyes, who presented the leaders of the different Circles who in turn gave individual reports.

Entertainment was provided by the "Harmonettes" a sextet from the Palm Springs High School including Marlene Biss, Corki Henderson, Better Moore, Donna Cole, Michael Linville and Maria Burgstahler who gave a musical rendition.

Rev. James Blackstone Jr. sang a solo "The Earth Is The Lords," accompanied by Mrs. Blackstone on the piano.

THE CAN CAN GIRLS were the hit of the first birthday party, which the Desert Hot Springs Senior Citizens held at the Eighth Street Community Center. Here the Club

President W. E. Huston looks a little critical (or is this an act?) of Mrs. Jess Sorenson, Mrs. Lora Fisher and Mrs. Verna Murphy, as they go into their dance.

Mrs. Nelson Is Honored On Birthday

Mrs. Evelyn Delmar Nelson was given a gay buffet cocktail party on the eve of her birthday by her nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Dressel of New York, who were here for a few days' visit. Dressel is a prominent attorney in the Wall Street Section.

The buffet, held in Mrs. Nelson's home, was picture book pretty from the taste tempting hors d'oeuvres to the special lemon cake.

Some of the guests sharing the happy occasion were Dr. and Mrs. Herman Salk, Dr. and Mrs. Cecil Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ryan, Mrs. Sandra Babcock, Mrs. Violet Babcock, Mrs. Elizabeth McIntyre, Mrs. Gladys O'Byrne, Mrs. Frances Kopecky, Mrs. Helen Hill, Miss Martha Zipfel, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Nathanson, Mr. and Mrs. John Dills, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kaser, Mrs. Mary Carlin, Mrs. Mel Aquilano and Mrs. Reba Gildehaus.

Many telegrams and calls came from friends who were unable to attend.

Artist Shows Technique to Palette Club

Fred Chisnal, who has been painting the desert and the High Sierras for the past 28 years, gave a demonstration of his techniques when he addressed the Shadow Mountain Palette Club at its meeting at Shadow Mountain Club's Indoor Room.

Chisnal is no devotee of the palette knife using instead different size brushes. He is noted for his retentive eye and his feeling for color, that catches the subtle quality of the desert.

A guest at the meeting was Helen Abernathy, Palm Springs artist, who heads the Contemporary Art Gallery here.

The Palette Club will hold its last meeting of the season on the fourth Wednesday in May.

Protective Groom

In ancient times, the bridegroom carried his bride over the threshold to protect her from evil spirits that were believed to be hovering there. When a husband does it today, the custom is a sign of his new protective role as head of the household.

WIVES OF CAR DEALERS, attending the 17th Annual Invitational Conference and Golf Tournament at Thunderbird, were entertained at a luncheon style show. John Roberts Powers School furnished the models, who showed fashions from Marie Renold's Southland Casuals of Palm Desert, with shoes from Ted Lend and hair styling by Play-

Police Do Not Pick and Choose Laws

This is Police Week in Palm Springs by proclamation of Mayor Frank Bogert. It is designed to acquaint the citizens with the work of their peace officers and to provide a better understanding of their daily duties.

Palm Springs is fortunate. Its staff of "the finest" is one of the finest. Its accomplishments and organization are known statewide.

Chief of Police August G. Kettmann of Palm Springs is one of the leaders in a state campaign to restore respect for the law as the most effective way to combat a growing crime wave and he has gained national recognition for this firm belief that a law is a law and was put in the statute books for just one purpose — to be enforced.

If a law is unpopular, it is not the policeman's place to decide whether it should be enforced, he says.

The chief's comments were aroused by an editorial in the magazine Liberty, published by the International Religious Liberty Association which is opposed to Sunday Blue Laws existing in many states, holding them in violation of true separation of church and state and contradictory to the right of conscience.

The editorial dealt with blue-law enforcement in Greenwich Village and concluded with the sentence: "What policeman will ever be able to look his boy in the eye and confess he earned his stripes arresting folks for selling books on Sunday in Greenwich Village?"

In a letter in reply, Chief Kettmann wrote:

"The finger of shame or hypocrisy should properly be pointed at legislative groups which permit obsolete laws to remain on the books. Law enforcement is pledged to enforce the existing laws. It is not law enforcement's place to decide which (laws) should be enforced or should not be enforced."

Answering this, the editor of Liberty said that the International Religious Liberty Association has refused to represent people who deliberately defy Sunday laws but has filed briefs in selected Blue Law cases.

"It has never represented those who defy civil authority," the editor wrote. "So long as the laws of Caesar do not conflict with the requirements of God, Christians are enjoined by God Himself to obey them."

Cartoonist Jim Dobbins in the Boston Traveler pen-pictured the Blue Law situation with the battered, bloodied but heroic figure caught in the middle, a policeman.

In conjunction with the California Peace Officers' Association of which he is a vice-president, Chief Kettmann is engaged in a campaign to restore respect for law and duly constituted authority in the state.

While law enforcement agencies originated the drive, it has become a non-partisan, non-political movement spear-headed by a "Committee of One Hundred" alarmed by the rising crime rate and disregard of law.

The chief is confident that an aroused public opinion will play a powerful part in combatting the increase in crime.

In his opinion, it is not a one-way street. It is a campaign of education not only to acquaint the public with police problems but within police departments themselves to merit to the fullest extent the public cooperation and respect.

But, as pointed out, it is not the place of the police officer to decide which laws to enforce. He is pledged to enforce them all.

As Chief Kettmann says, it is the legislators who permit obsolete laws to remain on the books — laws which tend to create disrespect for laws — who should shoulder the blame.

Dick Nixon Still Has His "Know-How"

Richard M. Nixon didn't travel to the House of Representatives, then to the Senate, on the Vice-President's office and to within a gnat's whisker of the Presidency, through a lack of political know-how.

And he still has it today as Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown could tell you—if he wanted to. He led the governor into what seems to be a sort of trap with his statement the other day at San Diego that Brown was "Hoffa's Boy."

The governor, naturally, came right back with cries of "foul" allowing Nixon to spring his trap.

Nixon declared he was "shocked" that Brown had, in effect, charged President Kennedy with using "smear" tactics in the 1960 campaign.

Nixon pointed out that his statement at San Diego was the same — word for word — as the one made by John F. Kennedy in the 1960 West Virginia primary when the Teamsters endorsed Hubert Humphrey. The only changes he made in the text were to change the name of the state from West Virginia to California and the office from President to governor.

Nixon charges that Brown is clearly "Hoffa's boy" and says he'll continue to remind the people of California of this just as John F. Kennedy reminded the people of West Virginia of Jimmy Hoffa's support of his opponent, Hubert Humphrey.

Politics — it's wonderful.

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

Capital Authorities

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Perhaps it is normal enough under the New Frontier, to find that the top Law Enforcement officer of this crime-ridden city is not whole hog for Law Enforcement anyhow.

Instead he is a believer in being thankful that crime is no worse, and in treating what we have with the unguents of social welfare and vocational training.

David C. Acheson, U. S. District Attorney for the District of Columbia, is a tall, energetic man who sits well in the saddle of his authority. He seems at home on the troubled range of his jurisdiction. But you begin to think, after the first favorable impression, that maybe Acheson is miscast in his role. Maybe he should be a Circuit Rider, carrying the Liberal gospel, rather than a Law Man armed for action.

Acheson's attitude is that of his generation of liberals. It stresses material well-being and the utilitarian creed of being able to do something for Society. It is an offshoot of the same philosophy which concerns itself excessively with civil liberties and "Democracy" for all, even for the underserving and the ignorant, who hardly know what the ideas are all about. In international terms, this is the liberalism which has hatched the postwar, Atomic Age pacifism which teaches us to be slow to fight and quick to aid.

Grave Question
What this approach will do to the Western World, let alone the District of Columbia, is one of the gravest questions of our time.

Mr. Acheson told me that Washington had the reputation of being the toughest town in the country for a prosecutor to get a conviction, make it stick, and remove the criminal from the streets for a long time with a severe sentence. He said this situation existed because of two "rules" in force. They are:

1. The Mallory decision by the U.S. Supreme Court. Unless an accused person is given a prompt hearing on carefully-stated charges, his confession gained by police questioning becomes inadmissible in Court. This puts a pair of procedural handcuffs on the prosecutor.

2. The Durham decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals. Under an ultra-elastic interpretation of criminal insanity, the Washington courts have become conditioned to assume that no sane man would commit a crime. Culprits are sent to mental institutions instead of prison, and are soon restored to their friends and their relations. This is a set of hobbies which any prosecutor with a will to win his cases ought to hate.

But I got the impression that Acheson didn't mind very much. He said something to the effect that Law Enforcement wasn't the prime purpose of Society. He associated himself with the amiable generalization that the accused should be given every break, and that the prosecution should bear the burden of proof over an obstacle course. While this is in the American tradition, it's questionable whether a public prosecutor should approach his work in that spirit. The American people certainly love peace, but they would not knowingly entrust their battles to generals who lacked a will to crush the enemy.

Stirs Up Concern
Acheson said that publication each March of the FBI's uniform crime reports stirred up the point where the crime record of Washington became exaggerated. In comparing it with the records of Baltimore, Boston, New Orleans and St. Louis, Acheson argued and documented the proposition that none of the cities—surely not Washington—was a standout criminal performer. He thought that the small jump from 81 Washington murders in 1960 to 88 in 1961 was "not an alarming increase." Throughout the interview there ran this trend of complacency concerning local crime.

You could listen to Acheson's smooth discussion of such matters and come away charmed—as I was—by his manner and competence. But if you sleep on this impression you may awaken—as I did—to the disturbing thought that this is not how crime waves are stemmed and broken.

Ours would be a better world, all right, if material aid and spiritual grace could be beamed on the wicked and cause them to desist. But it is hard to believe that crime—local or international—will ever be smitten by a hand that really doesn't want to strike.

On the same subject, from down south where chicken, fried broiled or baked, is reputed at its best, the Birmingham, Ala., News says they are not worried by left wings or right wings. "It's what's in between that counts."

I've got another peeve. These magazines that paste stickers on the front to call attention to a special article. Tear 'em off and you ruin the cover page picture.

THIS SIDE Of The Sun

R. F. "Phat" GRAETTINGER

Some call it filthy lucre
With germs that are so hideous
And wash it clean with soap-suds,
Not me, I'm not fastidious.

By dint of scattergun reading—that is, everything that comes to hand with printed words on it—I run across many odd things. Like the letter a woman wrote to the editor the other day. She was worried, our paper money is so dirty.

SHE SAID she washed this dirty currency in a dish pan full of warm water and soap flakes and then hung it on the line to dry. Inside the house, not outside where some unprincipled people might be tempted.

She didn't mention any flat iron work but did say that she enjoyed that clean feeling—of the money.

Well, I've had that clean feeling, too. But it wasn't because the money wasn't dirty. It was all gone.

At my age, I think I'm immune to any germs that may lurk around the pictures of Geo. Washington and Abe Lincoln whom I see most, also Mr. Hamilton and on rare occasions when the right number goes up on the tote board, Andy Jackson. Don't ask me whose picture is on the next side, but I'll take it even if it's crawling.

THEN I ALSO READ that the District of Columbia is really worried. Not about medicare, foreign aid or aid to schools. But about high school girl cheerleaders.

And a new directive has been handed down by school heads in the national capital.

The school superintendent insists that the girls "make firm definite movements" and not the "little wiggles and shakes that now prevail."

I bet he hates the Twist.

THE NEATEST TRICK of the year, I think, was described by Louella Parsons, noted columnist.

She was asked to recall her funniest interview and said it had to be the time she interviewed Virginia Mayo and Michael O'Shea.

O'Shea did all of the talking, she wrote, and Virginia "never opened her mouth. All she did was eat six bowls of chili with cheese."

Didn't know they fed chili intravenously. Must have, though, if the Mayo didn't open her mouth once.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that even the best educated people don't know enough to send the priest (or officiating clergyman) an invitation to the wedding breakfast, reception, dinner or any social function related to the wedding? I have seen this happen so many times it isn't even funny. The very last minute they send word that the clergyman is "expected" to attend these affairs and are insulted if he isn't available. Parishioners do the same thing at Christmas, New Year's and Easter. —WONDERING WISCONSINITE

DEAR WONDERING: I don't know why this "oversight" is so commonplace, but perhaps after this item appears there will be fewer "sins of omission."

DEAR ABBY: I read your column every day and notice that some women complain because their husbands—

1. Stay out all night
2. Beat them
3. Gamble away the paycheck
4. Drink to excess
5. Use abusive language
6. Never take them anywhere
7. Never show them any affection

How lucky these women are whose husbands have only one, two or three of these faults. My husband has all of them. —Sincerely, —BURT'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Now, I'd like to hear from Burt.

DEAR ABBY: Print this for the mother-in-law who criticized her daughter-in-law for saying, "My children, my home, etc." Many mothers are blind where their sons are concerned. A husband who spends no time with his children and does nothing to help around the house should not blame his wife for referring to her children and home as "mine"

DEAR ABBY: On Friday, December 29th, one of my twin daughters was sledding. She went down a hill and hit a chain the city had put up to protect the grass. She died in ten minutes.

Now one of my neighbors keeps telling me that if I had not bought that sled my daughter would still be living. It was bad enough that my daughter died in my arms, but to keep hearing this neighbor saying this is driving me out of my mind. Print whatever you wish of this letter, but please give me some comfort and advice. —MRS. L. S.

DEAR MRS. L. S.: The first thing you must do is to quit seeing this neighbor, if you have to close your door in her face. God gives us our children and He takes them away. Believe this, Mrs. L. S., and you will have the peace of mind you seek.

How's the world treating you? For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to "Abby", care of this paper.

OAKLAND, N. J. — Traveling salesman Edward M. Moscrip, lone passenger on a four-engine Eastern Air Lines plane in line with Eastern's "no wait" policy:

"It was a little lonely, but I couldn't complain about the service. I had three stewardesses talking care of me."

MADRID — The official Spanish news agency Cifra, deprecating the significance of the miners' strike in Austria: "Nothing has happened, other than purely labor discrepancies, originated and fomented . . . in countries whose radios and newspapers evilly swell up and twist everything referring to Spain."

WELLINGTON, New Zealand — Secretary of State Dean Rusk, assuring New Zealand that the United States will help maintain the dominion's prosperity against possible effects of the European Common Market:

"We think we can demonstrate in the next few months that we have a strong interest in our prosperity."

Spirited Speeches Run in JFK Family

NEW YORK — The President's sister, Eunice Kennedy Shriver, sounded, looked and gestured almost startlingly like her brother in the course of a spirited speech on mental retardation at the Albert Lasker Medical Journalism Awards luncheon the other day.

There is no reason why Mrs. Shriver should not sound like the President of the United States but, nonetheless, the crowded room sat marveling at the resemblance. Mrs. Shriver, wife of the director of the Peace Corps, speaks at a runaway clip, in pure Bostonese, and keeps her right hand going as if it were punctuating.

Her speech bristled with statistics and, like so many of her brother's, soared with hope for a better day and a better break for the retarded. The break, she felt, could come from the findings of the panel of outstanding scientists, doctors and others appointed by the President to unravel the cause and prevention of this direly increasing national problem.

Mrs. Shriver, who looks vigorous enough to play plunging full-back on the family touch football team, made her remarks in the course of presenting to WBAL-TV, Hearst-owned station in Baltimore, a check for $2,500 and a golden figurine of the Wing Victory of Samothrace. The station's production of a 90-minute documentary on mental retardation in Maryland won critical acclaim through the industry. The Lasker check was in turn contributed to continued work in that field.

The winged victory emblem goes to the station and the bright young man, Rolf Hertsgaard, who wrote the script and starred in the production. It will be treated better in Baltimore than it was in an early edition of a New York newspaper which spelled it Sam O. Thrace.

Puzzling Paradox

A foible brot of a bye, Sam. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States is understandably concerned with one of the great paradoxes of our age: The better our international commercial aviation becomes, the more customers we lose to foreign carriers.

In 1950, our companies that fly beyond our borders carried 74.7 per cent of all the international traffic involving the U.S. By last year it was down to 54.7 per cent. A dip was anticipated as the foreign carriers improved in equipment, (mostly American made.) But not a dip like that.

The Chamber says the downward trend weakens the civil air-life defense potential, shuts down jobs in airline and allied industries, reduces the ability of U.S. airlines to buy modern equipment, lowers prestige, curdles the balance-of-payments position, and beckons a return to government subsidy of the several privately-financed U.S. international lines.

Two prime causes of the swoon: The government, in the interest of good will, has bent over backwards to give foreign carriers a break in negotiating bi-lateral agreements.

Some foreign carriers, state-financed, can afford to offer many more services to the U.S. than the American lines can, and do so in violation of signed pacts.

15-1 Advantages

One European line has at least a 15-to-1 advantage in competition with U.S. carriers, the Chamber statistics show. In the 1957 U.S.—Australian agreement we gave our friends the right to serve the route from Australia to San Francisco and across the U.S. to New York and to Europe. "In exchange," the Chamber comments, "We received routes which did not exist or for which there was little demand."

One of the routes involved traffic over the pole. The South Pole, alas.

Gherman Titov's figures on the booster that sent him into orbit must be taken at their face value, for want of official word from his superiors. The cosmonaut spoke of a six-engine multi-staged rocket, burning liquid fuel, and a total thrust of 1,300,000 pounds. The Atlas-D which hopes to put Scott Carpenter in orbit this month is, in effect, a 1-1/2 stage booster whose engines — one main one and two disposable outboards — produce about 350,000 pounds of thrust. While standing on its pad at Canaveral, before it is fueled, it must be inflated. Otherwise, it might collapse under the weight of the Mercury capsule atop it.

But it's the only wheel in town. If Titov rode the kind of rocket he talked about in Washington the other day, Russia is as far ahead of us in that department as the time which will elapse between today, let's say, and the day in 1965 or 1966 when the Saturn booster is first harnessed to a man.

Other Editors

(San Diego Union)

Congress and private industry seem unable to agree on legislation authorizing a communications satellite corporation. Unless they get together, there is a danger that the Russians will be the first in this field . . . Under private ownership, this country's communications systems have been developed to a level unmatched anywhere else in the world. President Kennedy admits this much. The very nature of the communications satellite then should dictate that its development and ownership should be with private enterprise . . . We think a communications satellite will be a wonderful thing. But let us not allow it to become a target for another shaft of Government control. The Administration likes to hurl around. Let us hold onto the principle of free enterprise, even in outer space.

(Fort Lauderdale (Fla.) News)

Nobody truly knows just what the cost of a Social Security financed medicare program will be. We are told that it can be financed initially by just a minor increase in the Social Security tax rate. But what they are talking about now is only the beginning. Congress hasn't failed yet to hike Social Security benefit payments in any election year and, as a result of all these unscheduled benefit hikes, both the tax rate and the base upon which it has been applied, have been steadily increased.

Today the basic Social Security tax rate is 3 1/4 per cent of all wages up to $4,800 per year which amounts to a yearly tax of $150 and that is already scheduled to rise sharply in future years.

If medicare is added, the Social Security tax burden on many young wage earners will exceed their regular income tax burden. And, once started, medicare won't be curtailed. Instead it will be expanded and expanded until, in the end, it will be come an all-embracing socialized medicine setup.

One of a Kind

THE GRACES of formal living are not easily conveyed by the written word, without the risk of sounding trite. But may we say this beautifully furnished three bedroom, three bath, poolside Residence boasts magnificence with a very confident nonchalance. The plantings, the exterior, the smallest interior detail, can bear the expression "Perfect Condition" without the slightest blush. Not often does such a superlative property come to be for sale. We invite your inquiry and your personal inspection. Sales agent.

Angels Bumped By White Sox

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Manager Bill Rigney hoped his club had put all its mistakes into one game Sunday as the Los Angeles Angels left today for Baltimore and the start of a 14-game road trip.

The Chicago White Sox inflicted the most crushing defeat of the season on the Angels Sunday with a lopsided 15-6 victory. The 16 hits given by the Angels were the most against Los Angeles in any game this year.

"We just made too many key mistakes against a good team like Chicago," Rigney commented. "When we weren't kicking the ball around, we made mental errors by misjudging fly balls and throwing to the wrong bases."

The Angels' bullpen, which had been rescuing starting pitchers most of the season, finally fell apart in the eighth inning when Chicago scored seven runs.

Ryne Duren, who made six excellent relief appearances in a row during which he brought his earned run average down to 2.04, started the Angels' downfall when he took over for starter Eli Grba in the eighth.

He failed to retire a man as he loaded the bases and walked in a run. Art Fowler took over and faced two men, giving up a single and hitting a batter. Jack Spring then came in only to give up a pair of hits before retiring two men. Tom Morgan finally ended the inning.

The Angels used six pitchers with rookie Bob Botz hurling the final inning and giving up three runs on four hits. The White Sox barrage in the eighth inning overshadowed several Los Angeles milestones.

Rookie first baseman Tom Burgess hit his first major league homer as a pinch batter in the seventh inning to drive in three runs. And Albie Pearson followed with a triple and scored to tie the game 5-5 at the end of the seventh.

Golfing

with ALEX MORRISON
Teacher of Champions

Sam Sneed profits, as every golfer could, by starting with hands placed well ahead of the clubhead.

A "BASKET CASE" hacker, with a full collection of faults, induced me to help him.

Skeptically I prescribed the following simple routine.

1. Use an open stance with the club placed so the hands are well ahead of the clubhead.

2. Make a relatively easy three-quarter swing and hold the head steady until the swing has been completed.

As anticipated I had to force him to use this routine, but it took less than 15 minutes for him to hit the ball longer and straighter than ever before. I explained that he could not enjoy such success consistently without making this routine a habit.

I begged him to practice it at home for several days before going out to hit balls. Instead he played in a tournament the next day and reported:

"At least part of your prescription worked."

Consistent success in golf never will be had by accident or without the proper training.

Andreason Aces

Par 4 Hole at O'Donnell CC

Dale Andreason, pro manager at Palm Springs Riviera Hotel Golf Club, added another sparkle to his brilliant career as a golf professional and instructor yesterday when he scored a hole-in-one on a par 4 hole at O'Donnell Golf Club course.

The ace on a par 4 hole is sometimes referred to as a 'double eagle' or 'golden eagle'—meaning three under on one hole.

Andreason, playing with Charles Farrell, of the Racquet Club; Harold Hicks, Palm Springs businessman and Howard Hawks, famous movie director with Paramount Studios, scored his ace on the 7th hole at O'Donnell, which plays 250 yards from the back tee. He used a three wood for the remarkable feat.

This was the seventh hole-in-one for Andreason, but the first on a par 4 hole. He carded a 66 for the 18 holes as he warmed up for the upcoming Local Yokel golf tournament, which swings into action tomorrow at O'Donnell GC.

Dodgers Home After Whipping Cards, 4-3

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Home from a road trip that, if nothing better, proved they should be a pennant contender, the Los Angeles Dodgers today gave some thought to their luck—or lack of it.

The Dodgers Sunday got a break when St. Louis third baseman Ken Boyer made a key error and Los Angeles used the miscue to pick up a 4-3 victory over the Cardinals. The win enabled the Dodgers to bump St. Louis out of second place in the National League.

But Los Angeles still was depressed from its 15-inning loss, 6-5, Saturday night to the Cardinals that may have cost them the services of impressive rookie pitcher Pete Richert.

The southpaw pitcher definitely was out of action for Tuesday night's series opener with the Houston Colts at Chavez Ravine and could be lost for the season.

The 22-year-old Richert was pitching to Bill White Saturday when he attempted to throw a fast ball and—as Dodgers first baseman Tim Lincecum described it—a muscle popped "sounding like two sticks clicking together."

Richert had torn a forearm muscle loose from his left elbow. He will be examined today by Dodgers physician Dr. Robert Kerlan, and the young pitcher's future for 1962 probably will be known after the examination. His loss would hamper Los Angeles relief pitching.

Back to the more pleasant side of things for the Dodgers, it appeared their luck was going to continue all black as St. Louis held a 2-0 margin going into the eighth inning of Sunday's series finale at Busch Stadium.

Giants Fast Draw Too Much for Colt 45s

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Giants returned home today after teaching the Houston Colts a little humility—and that's quite an accomplishment when dealing with Texans.

The Houston team proved it was plenty fast on the draw Friday when it handed the San Francisco powerhouse its first white-wash of the year, 7-0. But the Giants proved that it takes more than a fast draw in the lengthy battle for National League honors.

Manager Alvin Dark's troops roared back to wallop the Colts, 11-0, behind the four-hit pitching of Juan Marichal, Saturday and then trimmed them 7-2 Sunday as Jack Sanford held the Houston team scoreless until the ninth inning.

The Giants got a bit of rest today in preparation for Tuesday night's opener against the rugged St. Louis Cardinals. After three games with the Cards, San Francisco will host Houston in a four-game set that winds up with a doubleheader Sunday at Candlestick Park.

Right At Home

The San Francisco team felt right at home in Houston, where Texas winds whipped across the field. The Giants took them in stride and maintained their four-game lead over the second place Los Angeles Dodgers.

Sunday was no day off for Sanford's teammates, who supported him with 13 hits and three double plays. Jose Pagan hit two, including a two-run homer for his second home run of the season.

Only Felipe Alou and Willie Mays failed to connect for hits. Mays' batting average has dropped from .309 to .265 since his 31st birthday home-run session May 5 in Chicago.

The Giants didn't start to score until the fifth inning, when Alou walked and singles by Jimmy Davenport and Tom Haller produced the run.

Davenport Hits Three
In the next inning Willie McCovey was on second and Orlando Cepeda was on third when Joser Ken Johnson threw a wild pitch that scored McCovey.

Davenport then singled and scored Cepeda, and Pagan came up for his home run. The Giants added two more off rookie Davie Giusti in the eighth and ninth innings.

Davenport's hitting success included a double and two singles. Cepeda had two doubles and a single.

Sanford allowed only three hits in the first eight innings and Houston hadn't scored a run until the bottom of the ninth with two out.

Houston's Pidge Browne pinch hit a single, and Roman Mejias doubled to score Browne. Then Norm Larker drove in Mejias for the Colts' second and last score.
